The Law Regulating Newspapers and Periodicals

1 Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions

2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their papers, the publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid, the subscribers are responsible for all the numbers sent.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible till they have settled their bills, and ordered their papers discontinued

4 The Courts have decided that a refusal to take a newspaper or periodical from the Post Office without notifying the publisher, and the payment of all arrearages, is prima facie evidence of fraud.

5 Subscribers to newspapers or periodicals removing are liable to pay so long as the paper or periodical may be sent to the residence of the party at the time of subscription, unless notice is sent of such removal to the publication office.

American & Foreign Patents
R H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the U S Patent Office Washington, under the Act of 1836.
76 State Street, opposite Kilby Street, BOSTON
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years continues to secure Patents in the United States also, in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries Caveats Specifications, Bonds Assignments, and all Papers for Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms and with dispatch Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions—and legal opinions rendered in all matters touching the same Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar Assignments recorded at Washington
The Agency is not only the largest in New England but it enjoys the advantages for securing Patents of ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsuccessfully prosecuted by persons of no professional ability, which can be offered elsewhere The testimonials below given prove that none is more successful in the Patent Office than the subscriber, and as success is the best proof of adequate ability he would refer to the unprecedented number of patents obtained by him during the last year as a sufficient reason to believe, and can prove, that no other office of the kind are the charges for process and services so moderate The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years has enabled him to accumulate a valuable collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents
These besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full acquaintance with patents granted in the United States and Europe render him able beyond question to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS
"I regard Mr Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse" CHARLES MASON Commissioner of Patents.
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy and more capable of pushing their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
"Mr R. H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such an unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges"
JOHN TURNER
Boston, Dec 3, 1861.
During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, has made on twelve rejected applications SIX TRIUMPHANT APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

THE NEWYORK TRIBUNE.
LARGE PREMIUMS.
TO OUR FRIENDS.
Hitherto we have never offered any one a premium for helping to extend the circulation of THE TRIBUNE. We have printed the cheapest newspaper considering the outlay by which it is produced, that was ever issued in any country, selling it for little more than the cost of the white paper, have employed no agents to canvass for subscribers, and have allowed no compensation (Beyond a copy of our paper) to any of the thousands of generous friends who have annually taken care that the number of copies of our several issues circulated in their respective neighborhoods should at least maintained and if possible increased. We have been sparing even of verbal thanks to these friends, but have none the less realized the fullness of our obligation for their earnest, unselfish, painstaking, persistent efforts
We propose for the present season only—in view of the hardness of the times and the fact that we are enabled to buy white paper some what cheaper than we have hitherto done or can hope to do after the close of the War—to make some small acknowledgment—not so much a recompense as a slight testimonial—to those friends who shall use their to exert themselves to obtain subscriptions (whether original or renewals) to our Weekly and Semi Weekly editions We do not know that we could offer any thing of similar value more generally acceptable and useful than a Gold Pen of the best quality and finish We propose therefore, to forward to each person who during the two months ensuing, shall send us subscriptions and payments for THE TRIBUNE, as follows
Daily Tribune—$6 per Annum.
Weekly Tribune
For $12, Eleven Copies Weekly Tribune addressed to each subscriber, and Pens or Pens and Cases to value of $1 00

THIS desirable mechanical arrangement has now been in use a sufficient length of time to show that it gives entire satisfaction and adaptability is the more valued the more it is tried This invention is a step in advance of all others in this department, combining all and a little more of their excellencies and yet happily overcoming all their defects By means of it a bed Bottom is obtained which is as flexible as hair and yet so recuperative as to bring itself into its place with great facility It is adapted to the invalid the aged and all who linger in suffering and weakness They are made of good materials warranted strong and durable, and not liable to get out of order
A New Bro—Anderson Spring Bed Bottom is one of the comforts of the age as we know from experience The first morning after we used it we got up easier and retired at night with a higher appreciation of a comfortable bed than ever before—It is an economical feature in a family—a substitute for feathers—and its elastic properties are very great.—Kennebec Courier
The Lewiston Journal says the Anderson Spring Bed Bottom is a most admirable article and is being received everywhere with great favor One only needs to try it to be satisfied of its value
I have had the unspeakable pleasure of sleeping on one of the Anderson Spring Bed Bottoms for the last three weeks, and I must say it far surpasses any thing I had anticipated My wife who is feeble, has had no good rest for six months till occupying one of these beds She would not part with it on any account. ANDERSON'S SPRING BED BOTTOM—This is a new claimant for public favor recently patented and now introduced with flattering success It would seem important that when about one third of our lives are devoted to sleep (or should be,) particular care should be exercised in selecting the most healthful and comfortable beds and it is now claimed, and we can speak advisedly of the justness of the claim that the patent meets the wants of the public in this respect completely This slats are easily varied and adjusted to any invalid and by their elasticity and their firm elastic connecting attachments contribute to the health and comfort of the sleeper and cannot fail to give the weary rest

PITTSBURG LANDING, 30

Hon E Stanton, Secretary of War—

Reliable information has been received that Major Hubbard, 1st Mc Volunteers, on the 26th, with 146 men, defeated Colonels Coffee and Stevenweight with 600 Indians, at Neosho, Missouri, killing and wounding 32, and capturing 62 prisoners, 76 horses and a large quantity of arms

(Signed) H W HALLECK,
Major General Commanding

PITTSBURG LANDING, 30

To Edwin M Stanton, Secretary of War

Movements continue The roads are hard and require a great deal of work for heavy teams—The reconnoissance to Purdy was successful—They destroyed two bridges on the Mobile & Ohio Railroad, captured one locomotive and a train of men

(Signed) THOMAS R SCOTT
Assistant Secretary of War

HUNTSVILLE, Ala, } via Louisville, 1st }

To Hon E M Stanton

Yesterday the enemy having cut our wires and attacked during the night one of our brigades, I deem it my duty to head, in person, the expedition against Bridgeport I started by a train of cars in the morning, followed by two additional regiments of Infantry and two companies of Cavalry I found that our pickets had engaged the enemy's pickets four miles from Bridgeport, and after a sharp engagement in which we lost one man killed, drove them across a stream whose railway bridge I had burned—With four regiments of Infantry, two pieces of Artillery, dragged by hand, and two companies of Cavalry, at 3 o'clock, P M, advanced to the burnt bridge and opened our fire upon the enemy's pickets on the other side, thus producing the impression that our advance would be by the railway This accomplished the entire force was thrown across the country about a mile and put on the road leading from Stevenson to Bridgeport The middle column was advanced at a very quick pace Our scouts attacked those of the enemy and forced them from Bridgeport road, thus succeeding in making a complete surprise We immediately formed our line of battle on the crest of a wooded hill within 3000 feet of the works to defend the bridge At our first fire the rebels broke and run, They attempted to blow the main bridge up, but failed They then attempted to fire the further extreme but the volunteers at my call pushed forward in the face of their fire and saved the bridge The bridge from the island to the main land is quite small It is of small moment in length being but about 450 feet Present there are 6 regiments of Infantry and 1800 cavalry stationed at the bridge This campaign is a success

I now occupy Huntsville in perfect security, while in all of Alabama, north of the Tennessee river, floats no flag but that of the Union

[Signed] O M MITCHELL,
Brigadier General Commanding
Third Division

NEW MARKET, April 30th

Yesterday the Ohio cavalry reconnoitered the Gordonsville road ten miles beyond Harrisonburg at which point they took two of Ashby's cavalry prisoners, together with several horses

Jackson is reported to be resting near Swift Run Gap, on the Blue Ridge, with Ashby's rear guard on the Shenandoah

The cavalry on the night of Cub Run, where a rebel picket was stationed, who had put combustibles under the bridge to burn it upon our approach

No doubt existed that Jackson had been reinforced since his stampede from Harrisonburg, but to what extent is not certainly known A portion of Ewell's brigade joined him a day or two ago

Before our advance upon Woodstock, there were three to five thousand rebel troops in and around Staunton, but their present location is not known

Surry has been visited by a strong Union force who found no signs of any enemy in that section The whole of the Shenandoah valley is now permanently free from the myrmidons of Ashby and Jackson in any considerable force

Lieut Warren Thompson, of the 11th Massachusetts has been appointed department ordnance officer

FORSYTH, Mo, April 29th

On the 24th instant a company of cavalry from this place destroyed the extensive saltpetre manufactory near Yellville, Arkansas, and burned the buildings. Lieut Heckook, of the 4th Iowa cavalry, was killed, and one private wounded, in the skirmish with the rebels

A large quantity of supplies had for the rebels' use with deserters and jayhawkers hid in the mountains, were captured by General Curtis's command

PITTSBURG LANDING, 1st.

The body of Governor Harvey of Wisconsin, recently drowned at Savannah, has been found forty miles below on the bank

The weather is clear and pleasant, with a good prospect for an improvement in the roads. The river is falling

General T W Sherman has arrived from Port Royal, and taken his brigade

In Peace or War, on land or sea,
Our flag, the ægis of the free,
Bright emblem of Columbia's glory!
Shall tell to coming years the story,
How, stout of heart, and strong of hand,
The patriots of our native land
Bore it, the nation's hope and life,
On tented field, 'mid fearful strife,
Still on! 'till through the sulphurous cloud
It broke in triumph, Treason's shroud!

Correspondence of the Whig & Courier

AUGUSTA, May 2, 1862.

Governor Washburn and Council have just arrived to hold a short session for general business. Some matters of importance will come up, amongst others, the nomination of a Judge of the Supreme Court, in place of Judge May, whose term is nearly out. This nomination will probably be made to-day.

Captain McKim, U S Quartermaster at Boston, telegraphs to the Governor that he is in funds and ready to pay all bills Major Gardner, General Superintendent of the recruiting service in this State, will be ready in a few days, a week or so, to pay all bills contracted under his authority, and will refund to the State the money advanced to pay subsistence and transportation bills to the 13th, 14th, and 15th regiments This kind of oil will reduce the friction of our business machinery very much, and with the continued success of the Union army, contribute largely to gladden the hearts of our people

The State House, under the direction of Gilman Turner, Esq, the gentlemanly Superintendent, is being thoroughly cleaned, painted and carpeted throughout—a process highly necessary after its recent occupation by the military — Mr Turner has been Superintendent for a long time, having been appointed in 1839, and serving since that time, with the exception of only two terms of one year each Twenty-one years' service is sufficient evidence of his faithfulness and efficiency

Edwin M Smith declines the appointment of Major of the 4th Regiment, as he is to receive an appointment on the Staff Brigadier General Berry as Assistant Adjutant General

Captain Wm L Pitcher of Bangor, Company H, is spoken of as Major of the 4th, in place of Smith

The following named persons have been commissioned to-day More will be soon

Llewello G Estes, Olntown, 1st Lieutenant, Company A, Cavalry

Rev Charles E Blake, Farmington, Chaplain of 13th Regiment

Edwin Libby, Rockland, Adjutant of 4th Regiment

Gustavus Rundlett, Wiscasset, Captain Co G, 4th Regiment

Ezra B Carr, Wiscasset, 1st Lieut Co G, 4th Regiment

William A Barker, Rockland, (son of Dr T C. Barker of Bangor,) 2d Lieut, Co G, 4th Regiment

Levi B Bisbee, Belfast, 1st Lieut Co K, 4th Regiment

Quartermaster E M Patten, of the Cavalry Regiment, has resigned, and it is understood the position has been offered to Andrew Griffin of Bangor Other Cavalry promotions will be made soon

James S Emery, Esq, of Hampden, has been appointed Allotment Agent, in place of A A Wing, Esq, who resigned on account of ill health Mr Emery is now on his way to our Regiments on the Potomac He is well known on the Penobscot as a capable and reliable man A better selection could not have been made

F.

The Richmond Examiner, of the 22d ult, is very severe in its denunciations of the rebel Secretary of War, for falsely asserting that the rebels had gained a great victory instead of a most disastrous defeat at Pittsburg Landing — Mr Davis asserts that all the evidence collected serves but to prove that the Confederates were badly defeated, and as proof of the fact he quotes Beauregard's letter to General Grant, the day after the battle, asking the latter who was in possession of the field, for permission to bury his (Beauregard's) dead

It is reported that the Parrot gun has sent a newly invented shot completely through a target formed of twelve one inch iron plates and a backing of twenty-four inches thickness of oak, at a distance of 300 yards. At the same distance, another target, sloped to an angle of 45 degrees, representing the side of the Merrimac, backed by twenty-four inches of oak, and covered with six one-inch iron plates, was completely perforated by every shot.

A COURAGEOUS LADY COMMISSIONED AS A MAJOR. The Pontiac Transcript says Gov. Yates has paid a rather unusual but well merited compliment to Mrs. Reynolds, wife of Lieut Reynolds of company A, 17th Illinois, and a resident of that city Mrs. Reynolds has accompanied her husband through the greater part of the campaign through which the 17th has passed sharing with him the dangers and privations of a soldier's life She was present at the battle of Pittsburg Landing, and like a ministering angel attended to the wants of as many of the wounded and dying soldiers as she could, thus winning the gratitude and esteem of the brave fellows by whom she was surrounded Gov Yates hearing of her heroic praiseworthy conduct, presented her with a commission as Major in the army, the document conferring the well-merited honor being made out with all due formality, and having attached the great seal of the State. Probably no lady in America will ever again have such a distinguished military honor conferred upon her Mrs Reynolds is now in Peoria, and leaves to join her regiment in a day or two

THE SOUTHERN PRESS ON THE FALL OF NEW ORLEANS It is manifest from the exceeding ill temper of the Southern papers when they make any allusion to the fall of New Orleans, that their souls are greatly troubled The Secretary of the rebel navy seems to be the special target for their attacks, and his blundering and mismanagement is placed by them far beyond doubt

The Norfolk Day Book of the 29th ultimo sarcastically says that it is comfortable to know that the rebel iron-clad steamer Louisiana is safe, but it would have preferred the intelligence that New Orleans is safe That it is not so is laid to the charge of the Secretary of the Navy, who ordered her away from the city she was specially built to defend The Day Book thinks it would be well to put all iron-clad gunboats of the Confederacy under glass cases, to keep the wooden boats of the Federals from hurting them

The Richmond Dispatch of April 28 does not approve of the burning of the iron clad steamer Mississippi to hinder her falling into Federal hands, and adds,

"The people would fain to be informed of the causes of the fall of New Orleans One rumor says that the 'iron-clad, bomb-proof' steamer Louisiana was sunk the first fire from the enemy's mortar boats, and it would be a relief to know whether in fact she played any part in the matter It was believed here that she was tested with fifty rounds of ball of one hundred and fifty-four pounds weight without doing her any damage and much was therefore expected from her We express the universal sentiment when we say that the mystery attending the fall of New Orleans should receive a speedy solution"

The same Journal acknowledges the fall of New Orleans to be a heavy blow, but says it was prepared for it but still, the South has great armies in the field, and the time has not yet come for despair It boasts in this style

"They (the Federals) have not beaten our armies in pitched battles nor do we believe they will ever do it Beauregard, with a powerful force, is still the guardian of the Southwest — Johnson, with a force still more powerful, faces McClellan at York Stonewall Jackson presents an undaunted front in the valley Our armies in Georgia and South Carolina are unsubdued, and we continue to hold our own in the Old North State The enemy has never been able to obtain an advantage over us, except by means of his gunboats Take him away from them and we can always defeat him

By the loss of New Orleans we are separated from West Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas and Missouri But if every seaboard town in the Confederacy, and every river town which can be reached by gunboats, were in the possession of the enemy to morrow it would not have the slighest effect upon the issue of this contest It would not be so disastrous as a defeat of Beauregard's army, or give half the same cause for despondency

"Doctors differ," and evidences of the truth of the saying is furnished by the Norfolk Day Book, which takes a much more gloomy view of the consequences of the capture of New Orleans than the Dispatch does It says in its issue of Monday last (and it will be noted that it had no previous opinion that the city would be taken so easily) that the news came very suddenly, and took everybody by surprise, adding

The sudden shock falls upon us unbroken by any previous foreboding This is by far the most serious reverse of the war It suggests future privation and want to all classes of society But, most to be lamented of all, it threatens army supplies Nor is this all, when the Yankees have completed their iron-clad navy, they will take every important point upon the coast, except in those cases where a wise discretion may permanently obstruct our harbors

To hinder this result the Day Book preaches determination, not on the part of the Government, but on that of the people It seems to have a suspicion that the Government is too contemptible to deserve advice

The Atalanta (Ga) Intelligencer of the 27th ult, did not look for any such results as the fall of New Orleans, and it declares that Memphis is bound soon to meet the same fate, and Savannah and Charleston and it does not mean to delude itself with the folly of thinking otherwise It advises burning and devastating as the noblest revenge, and is, on the whole, in very bad temper over recent events

The Petersburg (Va) Express of the 29th considers the fall of New Orleans one of the most extraordinary events the war has brought forth, and is very firmly of opinion that somebody is to blame for its occurrence It consoles itself with the idea that all the cotton in the city is carried off and all the cotton burned, and has the utmost reliance to place on what it calls "his Saffron Majesty, the yellow fever, in taking revenge on the terrible Yankees It further finds comfort in the opinion that "the large and fine army" that could not defend New Orleans, and that never, so far as we have heard fired a shot in its defense, will be mighty in the defense of Smith

The same paper says that instead of the rebel gunboats going from New Orleans up to Fort Wright to attack Com Foote's flotilla, the rebel boats at Fort Wright are on their way to New Orleans to help Hollins regain the city

As a consequence of the capture of "the capital of the Mississippi," the prices of sugar and molasses, which were high enough before, have advanced considerably, and were expected to rise still further.

The report from Europe with regard to the growing wheat crops are unfavorable. The weather has been unpromising for a full harvest. The Mark Lane Express of the 14th says:

We have become much more dependent upon foreign supplies, and there is already greater firmness in the trade, notwithstanding good stocks and heavy arrivals, more especially of American flour.

[Dispatches to the Evening Papers]

Particulars of the Fort Macon Surrender —New Orleans held by Marines—Butler's Force within a Few Miles of the City—

FORTRESS MONROE, 1st.

A flag of truce from Craney Island this afternoon, brought down an English nobleman and several newspapers, giving additional particulars of the fall of New Orleans, and containing other interesting items

The Provost Marshal has prohibited all huckstering within the military district of Norfolk, and the privilege of selling poultry, game, fish, fruit, vegetables, &c., is restricted to those who raise or catch them

Another order extends the privilege of bringing oysters from May 1st to June 1st, and allows butchers to buy pork

The Wilmington, N C, Journal of Tuesday says the fire upon Fort Macon opened at a quarter before six on Friday morning The engagement was kept up until seven in the evening, when the fort became wholly untenable and surrendered. All the guns inside the fort opposite to the place of attack were dismounted, and all but three of the guns bearing upon the enemy's batteries were dismounted

The same paper says that the report of 15 of our men being killed in a recent scout against the enemy's pickets is untrue One man only was wounded and none killed From other accounts it is gathered that during the bombardment of Fort Macon seven rebels were killed and a great many wounded

Col White and 160 men were released on parole by Gen Burnside A rumor was in circulation at Suffolk on the 30th ult., of the evacuation of Memphis and Corinth, and the capture of Wilmington by Gen Burnside Breckinridge and Hindman have been appointed Major Generals, and Col N A Beal of Ark., a Brigadier

The Richmond Despatch pronounces the panic on the subject of the scarcity of food causeless

The road from Danville to Greensboro is rapidly constructing and will open North Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia and South Carolina to feed Virginia It quotes sales of butter at $1,40 per pound

The same paper says six Yankees and seven domestic traitors, one a recusant soldier, arrived at Richmond The former be ong to an Ohio regiment and were captured in Bath county

Timothy Webster was executed by the rebels as a spy on the 29th ult

Commodore Farragut had proposed terms of capitulation which Mayor Monroe accepted, and New Orleans was at last accounts held by a battalion of marines from the squadron

Gen Butler's force were within a few miles of the city, having landed from Lake Pontchartrain

FORTRESS MONROE, 1st

(Special despatch to The N Y Times) Three or four rebel boats were seen off Sewall's Point this morning They appeared to be placing buoys to mark the channel

Gen Prentiss and 700 Federal prisoners arrived at Selma, Alabama The officers will be sent to Talladega, and the privates to Montgomery

Com Hollins passed through Columbus Saturday, en route to Richmond He is amazed at the fall of New Orleans He stated that there were 100 heavy guns in position between Fort Jackson apt the city, that the gunboat Louisiana was ready and waiting, that numerous boarding parties were organized to take the national vessels at all hazards, and that the Mississippi, though unfinished, could if necessary be brought into action The rebel General Gladden died from wounds received at the battle of Shiloh.

WASHINGTON, 2

According to a recent order of the War Department, when the care of the sick and wounded soldiers is assumed by the States from which they came, the subsistance department will commute their rations at 25 cents

AROOSTOOK RAILROAD All prospect of having a railroad from Aroostook in the direction of Bangor for many years to come, at least, seemed to be at an end, by the recent refusal of that city to loan its credit in aid of the road But there appears to be some prospect of its being soon built by aid from the general government, as a military road Edwin F Johnson, a distinguished Civil Engineer, has been directed by the war department to investigate and report upon the best plan of defence for the State of Maine in case of a war with England He recommends that Portland be completely fortified and rendered impregnable to attack either by sea or land, and says also that the general government ought to aid in the construction of railroads east and west from the terminus of the present railroad at Oldtown "This aid," he says, "can be constitutionally given in consideration of its being used for military purposes and the transportation of the mails" The old military road was made by government as a war necessity, yet its great value was the facility it gave to travel from Penobscot to Aroostook In case of a war with England, the same necessity would exist of communication between Bangor and Houlton that did thirty years ago, when war was deemed possible Common roads were then routs of military communication Now, they are absolute as means of transporting troops and munitions of war A railroad now is as indispensable as a common road was through the wilderness then And from the experience we have had in the Trent affair, of how suddenly a war might be inaugurated with Great Britain, there can be no doubt that the government will very soon take efficient steps to be in possession of this indispensable means of national defence If Congress takes hold of this matter a road will be constructed at once There will be no lingering, building ten miles, and then waiting for months or years for funds to build another ten miles, but for the government to begin is to finish, and we may be in connection by rail with the "outside" world sooner than we have been accustomed to expect

There is then reasonable grounds to expect that the general government will soon, as military necessity, either build or aid in building a railroad to Aroostook A road thus made would soon fill Aroostook with emigrants, and in a few years we should rival in population the most populous counties in the State, and such a preparation for war would be the surest pledge of peace

NEWS OF THE WEEK On Thursday last while the steamer Queen was towing a brig down the river, she came in collision with a lumber load d schooner, and broke bowsprit and jibboom The Queen towed the schooner back for repairs

On Saturday a man fell from the top-gallant yard of a schooner to the wharf, a distance, as some say, of sixty or seventy feet and strange to say it did not kill him. It is thought he will recover

Toward night of the same day, a girl named Greenlaw drowned herself near Union Mills.

There are four vessels on the stocks in this place, one of which is a barque, is half rigged and will be launched in a few days

BEFORE YORKTOWN, 1st

On Tuesday a steamboat was seen with a load of troops at York own They probably came from West Point, thirty miles above, indicating that the enemy are being reinforced instead of preparing to evacuate.

Battery No 1, at the mouth of Warmly's Creek, and commanding the rebel water batteries at Yorktown and Gloucester, opened yesterday afternoon on the enemy's shipping, at a range of about two miles. The first shot, which was followed in rapid succession by others caused the rebel vessels to hastily retreat out of range No damage is supposed to have been done to them, as the range had not been obtained The guns were then directed towards the works at Yorktown and Gloucester, with a view of getting a reply They were not long kept waiting when a large pivot gun on the heights at Yorktown sent a messenger which caused every one to jump for the trenches. The firing was now kept up quite briskly for two hours from both sides, with no damage as far as we were concerned although some of the rebel shells came too close to make it pleasant The accuracy of our gunners—this being the first attempt with new siege pieces—was acknowledged by competent judges to be most admirable Some of our shells were seen to explode directly over the enemy's parapets, which a moment before were lined with men

About sixty shots were fired from our one hundred and two hundred-pounder Parrott guns during the afternoon What damage the enemy sustained is not known

The enemy opened on our parallel, where the workmen were employed, at about dusk, throwing shell at intervals during the night No one was hurt

Private Charles Young, 26th Pennsylvania regiment, was severely wounded in the knee last night while on picket duty

The April showers are daily retarding the operations considerably

Two deserters belonging to the Mississippi battalion commanded by Colonel Tayler, camped near Yorktown, deserted last night, while on picket duty They are both Northern men, but they can give little or no information Gens Johnston and Magruder made speeches last week to all their troops calling upon them to use every exertion to defeat the Northern invaders, that they should never surrender so long as there was a man left, that if they were defeated at Yorktown, the cause of the Confederacy was gone, as they were determined to rest their cause on this their last battle

Sergeant Plantman of the 40th U S Infantry, formerly a 2d Lieutenant in the English army, and who distinguished himself in the Crimean war, for which he had medals, died yesterday from a wound received while on duty in the trenches Monday night last Considerable alarm is felt by our surgeons as to the curability of wounds received here, owing to the peculiarity of the climate In view of this fact arrangements are being made to send north all those who may be wounded, as quickly as possible

CINCINNATI, 2d

The Commercial has from its correspondent with the army of General Halleck the following official figures of our loss at the battle of Pittsburg Landing McClernand's division—killed 25, wounded 185, missing 236, W H Wallace's—killed 228, wounded 133, missing 1161, Lew Wallace's—killed 43, wounded 247 missing 95, Hurlburt's — killed 213, wounded 1449, missing 225, Sherman's—killed 437, wounded 1402, missing 482, Prentiss's—killed 196, wounded 562, missing 1802 Crittenden's —killed 80, wounded 410, missing 27, Nelson's—killed 98, wounded 612 missing 10, McCook's—killed 93, wounded 805, missing 4 Total killed 1735, wounded 7882, missing 4944 The total killed, wounded and missing is 13, 661 About 300 of the wounded have since died

Our burial parties report between 2500 and 3000 rebels found dead on the field

The Commercial publishes passages of a letter from General Grant, answering one informing him of the criticism of his management of the battle of Pittsburg Landing General Grant says "I will go and do my duty to the very best of my ability without praise, and do all I can to bring the war to a speedy close I am not an aspirant for anything at the close of the war There is one thing I feel assured of that is, I have confidence in every brave man in my command, those who showed the white feather will do all in their power to attract attention from themselves In all I had perhaps a dozen officers arrested for cowardice on the first day's fight These men are necessarily my enemies As to the talk of a surprise here, nothing could be more false, if the enemy had sent up word when and where they would attack us, we could not have been better prepared Skirmishing had been going on for two days between our reconnoitering parties and the enemy's advance I did not believe, however, they intended to make a determined attack, but were simply making a reconnoissance in force My headquarters were at Savannah, though I usually spent the day at Pittsburg Troops were constantly arriving to be assigned to brigades and divisions, all ordered to report to Savannah, making it necessary to keep an office, and some one there. I was also looking for General Buell to arrive, and it was important that I should have every arrangement complete for his speedy transit to this side of the river

The Commercial's correspondent with General Mitchell's army gives the following explanation of the manner in which Gen Beauregard's dispatch was taken at Huntsville

The wires were broken at a point beyond Huntsville, and Beauregard's dispatch was received at Huntsville, and was being prepared by the operator to be forwarded by locomotive to Chattanooga, and thence repeated by telegraph to Richmond, when Gen Mitchell surrounded the town, and instantly seized the telegraph office. Gen. Mitchell himself seized the dispatcher After hours of study. There is no doubt as to the genuineness of the dispatch.

Beauregard lost not less than 20,000 men in killed, wounded and prisoners, and the sick, panic and panic stricken, during his movements from Corinth upon Pittsburg Landing

FORTRESS MONROE, 2d

The French war steamer Gassendi arrived from Washington this afternoon

The steamer Julia Parrer arrived from Newbern this morning, having left that place Tuesday She brings the mails and official despatches.

All the previously reported particulars of the capture of Fort Macon are confirmed The fort surrendered on Friday evening, and all the stores and ammunition, the latter in large quantity, were captured The fort was immediately garrisoned immediately by Union troops Everything was quiet when the Julia Farrer left

By this steamer we have Union accounts of the fight above Elizabeth City, previously reported

Gen Reno was dispatched by Gen Burnside on the 17th, with five regiments and 4 pieces of artillery, as previously stated, to Elizabeth City thence to move in the direction of Norfolk

The special correspondent of the Tribune gives the following particulars —Gen Reno landed at Elizabeth City and sent Col Hawkins by a circuitous route to get in front of the enemy, and followed with a part of the remaining force.—After marching 20 miles the enemy was found entrenched with batteries in position on the edge of the woods, which commanded the approaches over the open fields Col Howard of the Marine artillery in advance, fired upon the enemy, and our pieces were put in position for a three hours' artillery duel Col Hawkins' force got astray and found themselves four miles in Gen Reno's rear Gen Reno sent regiments to the right and left to outflank the enemy The movement being finely executed there was a prospect of bagging the whole of the rebel force

When Col Hawkins came up, Gen Reno ordered him to the right, but coming into the open field he charged on the enemy with the bayonet, appeared in the clearing and received the fire of both batteries and all the rebel infantry Col Hawkins was wounded in the arm, and Adjt Godsden killed A charge was then made by the other regiments on both flanks of the enemy, who was put to rout and retreated to the canal locks and thence to Norfolk

General Reno pronounces this one of the most brilliant affairs he ever saw

Our loss in commissioned officers was two killed and thirteen wounded, privates, six killed and forty wounded

General Burnside positively ordered General Reno not to advance any further towards Norfolk, the object being to feel the strength of the enemy in the rear so, after remaining six hours on the field of battle, he returned to Elizabeth City having not enough of wagons, and the men being exhausted by a severe march Seventeen of our wounded were left on the field in charge of a surgeon, with a flag of truce These have once arrived at Fort Monroe. The enemy's loss is larger than ours

To Hon E M Stanton

Captain Worden of the Navy, with despatches from Gen Burnside, has just arrived He reports that Fort Macon was taken after 11 hours bombardment 400 prisoners were taken Col White, late of the Ordnance Department, commanded Fort Macon The loss on our side was one killed and eleven wounded

SENATE.

The Vice President pro tem presented a message from the President regarding the arrest of Gen Stone, which has already been reported — He will be allowed a trial without unnecessary delay, and the charges and specifications furnished him, and every facility for defense afforded him by the War Department

The confiscation bill was taken up and discussed by Messrs Doolittle, Cowan and Wade

The Senate then went in executive session

Adjourned to Monday

HOUSE

Mr Stevens of Pennsylvania from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported an annual army appropriation bill

The House briefly discussed to day the bill granting pensions to persons disabled or wounded in the military or naval service since the 4th of March, 1861, and hereafter. It was then postponed till Tuesday next

Private bills were then considered

Messrs Morrill of Vermont, Biddle of Pa, and Voorhees of Indiana—the first named having rose to a personal explanation—made remarks exculpating Gen Smith from the charge of drunkeness

Mr Washburne of Illinois also defended Gen Grant from similar charges

Mr Richardson thought all these things should be left to the military authority If the riot acts were read dispersing Congress, the army would get along much better (Laughter)

Mr Fisher of Delaware defended his state from the remarks of Senator Saulsbury

At the conclusion of Mr Fisher's remarks the House adjourned to Monday

Twenty eight horses were sold at auction on the grounds lately occupied by the cavalry regiment in Augusta, on Tuesday of last week, at prices averaging about $700 each

—Maine Farmer

This is about double what they were really worth Verily the mania for auction buying is wonderful

ACCIDENT Capt Jonathan True, of New Gloucester, while loading hay, on Wednesday April 30 h, fell from the load striking upon his head, and injuring his neck and spine severely It is feared his injuries will prove fatal

OUR WAR POLICY ON THE MISSISSIPPI The Washington correspondent of the World has the following speculations relative to the management of the war on the Mississippi river

"It is altogether probable that an understanding was arrived at between Comm Farragut and Foote some time since, that both the upper and lower expeditions on the Mississippi should simultaneously commence the bombardment of New Orleans But Com Foote could not take Island No 10 within the brief time proposed, and even after he had accomplished that object he found at Fort Wright an obstacle to his progress down the Mississippi The battle of Shiloh completely changed the condition of affairs in the military department of the West and compelled a rapid concentration of all our available forces at that vicinity to save the State of Tennessee It seems probable a month ago that Memphis would become the basis of the Confederate operations and much trouble be experienced in our Generals securing possession of it, even should Beauregard be defeated at Corinth At all events, it is evident that Com Foote's mortar fleet would prove an auxiliary hard to be dispensed with in case of an attack on Memphis This, perhaps is the reason why our fighting naval commander delays the reduction of Fort Wright When his aid is needed before Memphis he can easily evade the guns of the fort, and make his presence felt where it would prove somewhat disagreeable to the rebels All hope, therefore of help from the upper expedition having failed Com Farragut, he determined to take upon re sponsibility of appearing before New Orleans, and how he succeeded in this object we all know If he should decide upon making his way to Memphis and compelling that city to come to terms, there would appear to be no serious obstacle to his onward movement"

New York papers has quite a list of anecdotes in connection with the late visit of the French minister to Richmond, among which we find the following

"The French minister and several officers, who have just returned from Richmond, are extremely cautious in speaking about what they learned during their visit Upon two points, however, they freely talk—the confidence and the poverty of the rebels All with whom they came in contact, high and low, declared that of eventual success there was no doubt They had won one great victory at Shiloh, and were sure of winning one at Yorktown

Capt Gautier, of the Gassendi, said to a party of officers who were talking in this strain on the steps of the hotel, 'They've driven you out of Maryland, Kentucky, and Missouri, and, by gar, they'll drive you to the Gulf of Mexico' But the rebels only laugh at him The talk of the women was as usual, more boastful and vindictive than that of the men

Benjamin, in conversation with the French Minister, assured him that the blockade was absolutely ineffective—a mere paper blockade which Europe should at once declare null and void — 'But,' said Mercier, 'how is it, then, that I see no tea, no coffee, no wine on your tables?' How is it that while you have, as you say, more men than you need, you cannot get arms enough for them?'

At Norfolk, Captain Gautier paid $8 for a wretched chicken, and at Gen Huger's request gave him a little coffee for his own use, for which the rebel paid him in ham

General Lee told the Frenchmen that if Fort Jackson was taken, the only protection which New Orleans had, consisted of an iron-clad steam ram, mounting sixteen guns, and supplied with six engines and two propellers; and that another of the same kind was on the stocks there"

A Yorktown correspondent of the N Y Tribune says "These marvellous New England soldiers build batteries by night and in the rain, with the same energy and skill with which they repair locomotives, construct railroad bridges, run grist mills and reconstruct abandoned saw mills."

The news of the fall of New Orleans was received in camp on Sunday, and created the most intense delight among the troops, who yearn for a share of the glories of the campaign.

DESPOTIC ASPIRATIONS OF THE REBELS. In a recent address at Nashville, Governor Andrew Johnson is reported to have said

"He knew the leaders of this rebellion well and intimately, both personally and politically, and he declared it was the firm determination of the rebel leaders to overthrow popular government, if they should succeed, and establish a despotism instead of our present liberal institutions Mr Clayton, the Assistant Secretary of Hon Howell Cobb, declared to him on one occasion that the people of the South as well as many at the North, were fully determined to submit to the election of no President who had sprung from the common people as Abe Lincoln had"

This no doubt correctly illustrates the egregious folly of a large proportion of the leading rebels But we wonder what this class think when they find themselves obliged to submit to 600,000 "common people" with arms in their hands, instead of yielding to the fair political success of one

CURE FOR GANGRENE A correspondent communicates the following, which may be of service to our soldiers in the field

"In the year 1831, a small party of Americans, in Texas, had a fight with the Indians, and one of their number, named David Buchanan, was wounded in the leg Mortification set in, and his companions having no surgical instruments or medicine of any kind, boiled some live oak bark very strong, thickened it with pounded charcoal and Indian meal, made a poultice of it and tied it round his leg, over which they sewed a buffalo skin and traveled along for five days without to king at it When it was opened all the mortified parts had dropped off, and the leg was finally completely healed"

THE PRESIDENT'S CONFIDENCE Col Forney says in his last letter from Washington

The President, in commenting last evening upon the capture of New Orleans took occasion to repeat his confidence in the speedy restoration of the Union If the rebels will not surrender they will be doomed to terrible retribution, and if they yield there will be no exhibition of revenge or of retaliation, save that which offended justice, as against the chiefs of the rebellion, may demand

A BOSTON INDIAMAN CHASED BY A SUPPOSED PRIVATEER BRIG A letter from on board ship S G Glover, which arrived at Madras from Boston, March 8th, states that on the 21 of December, lat 28 north, lon 32½ West, a supposed privateer brig gave chase to the Glover, but the wind being fresh, the Glover outsailed her The brig hoisted the U S flag when the Glover displayed that of England

We would suggest as very appropriate to be inserted in the official call of the Dana State Committee for a State Convention the following "To see if the Convention will amend the Mosaic account of the creation, by inserting in the 1st chapter of Genesis, 26th verse, first line before the word 'man' the words 'a white,' and after the word 'cattle', in the fifth line, the words 'and over the niggers, so that the verse as amended will read as follows

"And God said, let us make a white man in our image, after our likeness, and let him have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air and over the cattle, and over the niggers, and over all the earth, and upon every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth"—Bath Times

PARISIAN DISSIPATION A Paris letter says "For the present every one here belonging to the upper classes seems to be bent upon pursuing a round of dissipation too fast going to be feasible The Countess Persigny has brought in, by giving her last ball at midnight a fashion in a fair way of being widely adopted as well as one that will make the sociability of the brilliant world more life-consuming than it ever has been So rees now commence long after ten, private concerts at about 11 and balls at 12 — The wearing effects of such unnatural hours on the constitution are warded off by the ladies, and indeed, often by gentlemen, in a manner so ingenious that it deserves to be recorded — Dinners are ordered half an hour earlier than they are usually served, and, instead of being finished at half past 7 or 8, are over at 7 and half past 7, so that persons of quality can go to bed and have a long sleep before they dress to go out at midnight"

FROM SHIP ISLAND While in bathing at Ship Island, on Saturday, April 5th Morse Preston and Brooks of the 14th Maine, were drowned, being swept away by the under current Capt James Lunt, of Brunswick, died on the way out near the Tortugas His body was taken to Ship Island, where the funeral services were conducted by the chaplain of the 8th N H V

It is reported that several thousand uniforms and equipments have been issued for black regiments, who are to be mustered into the service at Port Royal, under Gen Saxton The plan of raising these regiments is said to have been urged by Gen Hunter, with the view of relieving white soldiers from the perils of the climate on that coast in the coming months Although the fact is well established that the rebels have blockade in their service, who have been been organized into regiments, yet we presume this act of the Secretary of War will be met with a howl of indignation from those who, to bring about an ignominious compromise, would gladly see our brave Northern men "welcomed to hospitable graves"

FROM THE SOUTH The rebels fully appreciate the importance of the coming conflict before Yorktown The Mobile News, after remarking that McClellan has got a great army of his own making, furnished with every needful thing, continues

This is the army we have got to whip or Virginia is lost—the capital of the Confederacy is lost—the headquarters, armories, storehouses, and a million of population, pass from the control, and reduce the resources of the Confederacy It is not to be believed that we can lose this great battle The stake is too enormous but that it will be fought for with an unconquerable energy and determination by the Confederate army to whose conduct so much is now entrusted

The Norfolk Day Book publishes a letter from an officer of the rebel force at Yorktown, which contains the following passages

The Yankees are still before us, and we cannot account for their delay in attacking us It is next to impossible to whip us, and we are all anxious for a beginning

A deserter states the Yankees expected to meet with no opposition He says they brought with them only three days' rations, expecting to arrive in Richmond on the third day All of the deserters and prisoners agree in the statement that they are in a starving condition on account of the difficulty in transporting provisions over the bad roads.

The great struggle of the war is to be here If we whip them, the war is near an end, if they whip us, the war will only be prolonged No one here, however, entertains the idea for a moment of being whipped The fight will be almost entirely with artillery.

The New York Express has the following items from Virginia:

We learn from Richmond, Virginia, that that city is full of refugees, women, from all parts of the Valley, and from the Rappahannock They all fly to Richmond for protection. Fredericksburg is half in Richmond.

The Merrimac is kept in Norfolk as much for city protection as for anything else Gen Reno's advance from the Burnside expedition affrighted the Norfolkers half out of their wits

The greatest efforts are being made in Richmond to supply the Yorktown army with men, means, &c, &c The whole energies of the city are being bent in that direction

Colonel Corcoran having been chosen a harbor-master of New York, arrangements have been made so that his substitute and the other harbor-masters will contribute the amount of his salary to his wife during his imprisonment.

A RAW At the breakfast table, at the Island Pond House in Vermont last Saturday morning we were told by a gentleman from Montreal that "there was quite a row in Montreal" the day previous, between an editor and a fast young man of that city, which resulted in a well aimed blow from the fist of the editor, cutting an ugly gash over the eye of 'Charley'

Charley, feeling that his dignity had been insulted straightforth wrote the editor a challenge to mortal combat choosing revolvers for his weapons But the editor evidently had no relish for weapons of that deadly character, and throwing himself upon the dignity of his profession, replied as follows

"Sir You are evidently unacquainted with the only code of honor acknowledged by editors We never fight with such deadly weapons as pistols, but when we feel called upon to mar the image of any one of our fellow creatures, and in consequence are challenged to fight a duel, we simply feel under obligation to give our antagonist as much more of the same sort as he may desire So sir you will present yourself for another mauling at your earliest convenience"

EMIGRATION OF ENGLISH MORMONS Eighty-five Mormons recently sailed from Liverpool, England for Utah by way of Boston It was stated at the late Mormon Conference, held at St George's Hall, Lambeth, that two hundred and fifty persons were upon the books ready to leave London this season, and that the members were increasing daily

1862---Spring Clothing---1862.

GENTLEMEN

Having noticed for years the fortunes of Tailors doing a credit business and having myself proved that system to be utterly wrong for the retail Tailoring business I feel compelled to adopt the CASH SYSTEM It is better for the customer who expects to pay for his garments as the amount lost by bad debts under the credit system, is divided between the patrons and the prudent as the former receive by paying as much as fifty per cent loss for their garments as if the latter received from bankrupts Consequently I will make all Cash purchasers customers examine the Stock of Goods now on hand and see if the prices are not 20 per cent less than at any other Clothing House in the city

The Cutting Department is under the charge of one of the best cutters just from Boston who has had a large experience in the first establishments in that city and can not fail to please all who may favor us with a call M GILLIGAN,

News From Yorktown.

The Rebels Burst a Big Gun.

Our Men Trying the Range of their Pieces.

A Battle Probably Going on at Corinth.

Reported Capture of Baton Rouge, La.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY of the Potomac,
Near Yorktown, May 2d, 2 P M

From Correspondent of Associated Press

The rebels opened this morning with their rifled columbiad, 68 pounder, placed on the heights of Yorktown Our No 1 battery of one hundred and two hundred pounders, Parrotts, was then brought to bear upon the only gun which has given us any trouble Our shots were falling over and around it with every prospect of its being dismounted very soon, when, on its twenty-third discharge, the enemy's gun burst into a thousand pieces, tearing up the parapet, and making havoc with the crowd who were collected at the time No less than ten persons were standing on the parapet within 6 feet of it, besides those who were hid from view by the works The distruction of life must have been considerable This was the only gun which the rebels have shown capable of doing our batteries any harm

All firing on their side now ceased, while our guns are manned with renewed vigor, directing their balls into the town About one hundred shots were fired by our guns up to two o'clock this afternoon, when, as if by mutual consent, they all ceased

About 12 o'clock to-day, a rebel steamboat came down the river and attempted to land at Yorktown, but was prevented by a few shots from our hundred pounder parrott

The rebels kept up a continuous fire all last night on our men in the trenches The only casualties were the wounding of James Enrlone and Philip Rachlen, Co C, 18th New York regiment

The weather is again pleasant If it should continue, you can look for starting news from this quarter, as the work laid out is approaching completion

Joseph Decker, Co G, Berdan's sharpshooters, was wounded last night on picket duty, and taken prisoner

CAIRO, 2d

The news from Pittsburg Landing is of the highest importance Its transmission over the wires is prohibited

The latest news from the fleet says it was generally believed that a simultaneous attack would be made by the fleet before the close of the week

Memphis papers of the 29th say a meeting held the night before had concluded to burn the city in case of the approach of the Federal fleet Editorials urgently call on the people to reinforce Price at Fort Wright as the only hope and salvation of the city

Governor Yates left to night for Pittsburg with the hospital steamer and a large quantity of sanitary stores

The river is stationary and eight inches higher than ever before known

FORTRESS MONROE, 2d

Three refugees from Norfolk left last night in a row boat and arrived at half past seven this morning There is little news except a repetition of previous reports from Tatnall received sealed orders on Monday and sailed, but opening them on the Elizabeth river, found he was ordered to run the blockade and proceed to Yorktown He thereupon returned to Norfolk and immediately resigned his commission, together with his chief officers

There was a general expectation in Norfolk that the Merrimac would come out for the last three or four days

Refugees say that there are some hundred Union men in Norfolk, known to be such, and many others who keep quiet, including many of the soldiers

There are six or seven thousand troops under Gen Huger between Pig Point and Norfolk — Three companies in Portsmouth rebelled and stacked arms a few days since It is also reported that part of Gen Magruder's forces had mutinied at Williamsburg

A torpedo has been constructed at Norfolk, whether recently or not is not stated It is calculated to be managed by one man and be propelled by him un ern vessel to be destroyed — It is said to be five or six feet long

The flag of truce to day has not yet returned.

Gen Lew Wallace's division has taken possession of Purdy without opposition The enemy's left flank had rested in that town

The mortars continue firing at Fort Wright at intervals of ten minutes Commodore Foote is preparing for a grand assault on the rebel works An attack on our fleet was expected on Tuesday, from the rebel gunboats Our flotilla formed in line of battle, but no demonstrations were made

CHICAGO, 2d

A special despatch to the Tribune from Cairo to-day says

From the fleet we learn of the capture of Baton Rouge and the Confederate Arsenal

Dental Card.

N. S. Jenkins, D. D. S.,

Has associated himself with Dr J K LINCOLN in the practice of Dentistry, at No 3 Union Block Main Street All business relating to his profession promptly attended to according to the late improvements in Dental Art

Dr Lincoln would take this opportunity to express his thanks to his numerous friends in Bangor and vicinity for the confidence and patronage already received and to assure them that no pains will be spared to merit a continuance of these favors New discoveries in Dentistry when found to be truly valuable will be introduced into his practice without regard to expense In this connection he would say that he has purchased the patent right for using the Vulcanized Rubber Gum for setting Artificial Teeth, and has put up a large number of sets upon it during the last six months It possesses many advantages over gold or silver

Anyone wishing whether upon gold silver platina or vulcanite will be warranted to give entire satisfaction Persons from the country can have their work done in the shortest possible time Temporary and part sets can be made in a few hours

BLOOD RENOVATOR,

Improves with age, what its name indicates, for while pleasant to the taste it is revitalizing exhilirating and strengthening to the vital powers—It also invigorates, refreshes and renews the blood and all its organs of vitality, and thus renders the system invulnerable to attacks of disease It is the only preparation ever offered to the world in a popular form so as to be will in reach of all Science only and skillful medicine has to be been at its command and it is so perfectly adapted as to act in perfect accordance with the laws of nature and hence cures the sick and invigorates and tones up the debilitated system, giving all nervous and other irritation It is also perfectly exhilirating in its effects, and yet it is never followed by insanity or depression of spirits as is so much of excitement of vegetables and those combined having powerful tonic and soothing properties and consequently can never injure such a remedy has long been felt to be a desideratum in the medical world both by the thoughtful and learned medical science and also by the public, for it is a self-evident fact, for it goes no medical skill or knowledge even to see that 100,000 of these all attacks of disease and layed the enfeebled system open to the attacks of many of the most fearful and serious diseases to which poor humanity is constantly liable Scrofula for example and all flesh Consumption in its early stages, indigestion dyspepsia, loss of appetite faintness terror or irritability nervous palpitation of the heart nervous debility hypochondriacal spirits, dizziness, dullness, costiveness, and all those of a nervous character, which are unnamed in this brief female weaknesses and irregularities All liver derangements or torpidity and all the complaints diseases to the kidneys or urinary organs, including diabetes, general derangement of the urinary organs, pain in the back side and between the shoulders and pain or weakness in the loins, backache, nervous headache, dizziness, sleeplessness, wakefulness, and indeed we might enumerate many more still but we have space only to say it will in all cases or any case of debility following in its train and fever but prevent such disease from ever taking hold of the system, giving a healthy action, from Miasmatic influences and cure the disease entirely if already attacked And as it acts directly and instantly upon the blood and system arousing the liver to action, producing a healthy action of the secretions and excretions of the system, it will in fact prevent any deleterious consequences from any improper exposure of food and water, hence all travelers should have a bottle with them and all should take a table spoonful at least before eating As it prevents costiveness strengthens the bowels and regulates the system in the hands of all persons of sedentary habits—students, ministers, literary men, and all ladies not accustomed to much out-door exercise should always use it. It will, they will find an agreable pleasant and efficacious remedy against those ills which rob them of their beauty and health cannot exist within at health and health cannot exist where the above irregularities continue Then age or the opposite is a perfect mother's relief. Taken a month or two before the final trial, she will pass the dreadful period with perfect ease and safety There is no mistake about it it is a cordial and we claim for it Mother's Friend And to you we appeal to detect the illness or decline not only of your daughters, before it be too late, but also your sons and husbands, for while the effects from false delicacy often goes down to a premature grave rather than let her condition be known in time the latter are often seized up with the consequence of business that if it were not for the fact they too would trust in the same downward path, until too late to arrest their fatal fall But the mother is always vigilant, and to you we confidently appeal, for we know we have your sympathy and affection will unerringly point you to Prof. Wood s Restorative Cordial and Blood Renovator as the remedy which should be always on hand in time of need Of all Druggists Prepared and Broadway New York and 114 Market Street, St. Louis, Mo., and sold by all good Druggists.

Best Mechanical Paper in the World.

SEVENTEENTH YEAR

VOLUME VI—NEW SERIES

A NEW VOLUME of this widely circulated paper commences on the fifteenth of April, 1862, and is published WEEKLY and every number contains twenty eight of useful information and entertaining reading, of the most interesting character, and a large amount of which are prepared expressly for these columns

To the Mechanic and Manufacturer

No person engaged in any of the mechanical manufacturing pursuits should be working without the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN. The four cents per week every number contains six to ten engravings of new machines, inventions, which cannot be found in any other publication. It is an established fact that inventors now put original engravings of the first class in the art drawn and executed by the most experienced persons under their own supervision

To the Inventor

The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN circulates every inventor as it not only contains descriptions of nearly all the patents which come out, but each week contains a list of the claims of all the Patents issued from the United States Patent Office during the preceding week, thus giving a correct history of the inventions in this country. Patents are granted every week the best scientific talent in the United States and France and Germany thus affording a reason that is transparent to every intelligent reader that the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN continue to transfer to our domestic readers from these journals of whatever we may consider of interest to our readers

Chemists, Architects Millwrights & Farmers

The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN will be found a useful journal to them All the new discoveries in the science of chemistry are recorded and the interesting details of the architectural world are not overlooked all the new and important improvements in agricultural implements are fully illustrated in its columns
